Where we work

We broadcast the hope of Jesus Christ in more than 100 languages and across 49+ countries.

About FEBC - Our Mission

FEBC Australia is a member of FEBC International - an interdenominational radio network ministry, which brings the love of God to the world by broadcasting the gospel of Jesus Christ.

FEBC Australia is a non-profit organisation publicising and promoting global Christian radio broadcasting. We began in Australia in 1965.

We are blessed in our strategic location close to Asia, the 10/40 window and the world's natural disaster hotspot. Radio-based communication is perfectly suited to this region.

We broadcast in more than 49+ countries in more than 100 languages, connecting Australian believers with people in the hardest-to-reach parts of the world.

FEBC Australia's mission work is made possible by the prayer and loyal partnership of many people across Australia, inspired by God's Holy Spirit. We seek to be financially responsible, accountable and able to withstand and respond to the dynamic nature of Christian work.

FEBC communicates the Good News among the nations by media to inspire people to follow Jesus Christ.

Our vision

“That the Good News be heard through every barrier, in every nation, tribe and tongue.”

FEBC is on air, online and on the ground.

On air - Starting with radio, and still primarily using this versatile and ubiquitous medium, FEBC uses traditional shortwave, AM and FM radio to deliver the Good News on air.

Online - FEBC broadcasts internationally on many platforms, such as internet, mobile app, satellite.

On the ground - Another vital link in the success of FEBC's media mission is radio with hands and feet: FEBC teams working on the ground with churches, people in the community, other missions and NGOs.

Wherever they are, we serve people at their point of need. People may be oppressed or persecuted, living in poverty, devastated by disaster, geographically isolated, homeless or in exile. Despite these obstacles, we know media can connect people.

FEBC reaches the least, the lost and the forgotten through radio and internet ministry. We:

FEBC Australia affirms the Cape Town Commitment

The source of all our mission is what God has done in Christ for the redemption of the whole world, as revealed in the Bible. Our evangelistic task is to make that good news known to all nations. The context of all our mission is the world in which we live, the world of sin, suffering, injustice, and creational disorder, into which God sends us to love and serve for Christ's sake. All our mission must therefore reflect the integration of evangelism and committed engagement in the world, both being ordered and driven by the whole biblical revelation of the gospel of God.

Integral mission is the proclamation and demonstration of the gospel. It is not simply that evangelism and social involvement are to be done alongside each other. Rather, in integral mission our proclamation has social consequences as we call people to love and repentance in all areas of life. And our social involvement has evangelistic consequences as we bear witness to the transforming grace of Jesus Christ. If we ignore the world, we betray the Word of God which sends us out to serve the world. If we ignore the Word of God, we have nothing to bring to the world.

- + God commands us to make known to all nations the truth of God's revelation and the gospel of God's saving grace through Jesus Christ, calling all people to repentance, faith, baptism and obedient discipleship.
- + God commands us to reflect his own character through compassionate care for the needy, and to demonstrate the values and the power of the kingdom of God in striving for justice and peace and in caring for God's creation.

Chairman's Message

As for other matters, brothers and sisters, we instructed you how to live in order to please God, as in fact you are living. Now we ask you and urge you in the Lord Jesus to do this more and more.

- 1 Thessalonians 4:1

“Doing better” was the theme at this year’s FEBC International Conference and is an important aspect of the FEBC Australia Board’s work. I trust this report will reflect Paul’s exhortation to “excel still more” as we seek to communicate the Good News among the nations by media to inspire people to follow Jesus Christ.

In regards to our Strategic Plan, the Board focuses upon four strategic pillars relating to our key areas of endeavour: Fundraising & Stewardship; Mission Partnership; Governance and Ministry Team.

Attaining stronger standards of compliance and trust is an important part of our Strategic Plan. The Board ensures that compliance requirements regarding finances, risk management and effective outcomes are diligently addressed. The Board goes further by actively maintaining CMA Standards accreditation enabling FEBC Australia to be recognised throughout Australia for its commitment to good governance, transparency and accountability for resources of money, time and expertise donated to us.

The capacity of the Board continues to increase and its need to further grow and add significant skill sets is vital. This year, “doing better” required the Board to spend time furthering our knowledge in Risk Management strategies as managing uncertainty within a faith context is always a challenge. The Board developed a Risk Matrix of key areas with graduated risk indicators developed to track risks against our agreed standards. The Board applies the Risk Matrix to all companies within the FEBC-Australia group.

The Board acknowledges the increasing challenges impacting upon fundraising. Personal commitment to long term donorship and the need for Christian mission is in decline. In addition, government regulations can be burdensome upon time and financial resources.

However, the Board reaffirmed that:

- + the Gospel must be proclaimed and demonstrated;
- + there are wonderful possibilities with evolving technologies to creatively share the Gospel and we need to be open, flexible and able to support their application where appropriate;

- + regional representatives for FEBC will be explored to develop networks of supporters.
- + office staffing needs to adjust in order to maximise our capacity to increase our support for FEBC’s mission and work.

In July, the Board met to assess the effectiveness of the Marketing and Fundraising Strategy and to make recommendations for the next 12 months to 2 years. The Board’s Marketing and Fundraising Committee noted that there has been significant progress in this area and yet recognises the need for continued focus along with the employment of key personnel with skills in marketing and communications.

The Board also, with the support of the Finance, Compliance, Risk Committee, implemented an investment strategy to provide an alternate income stream that could moderate the inconsistencies of monthly donations or mitigate risk against our three year funding agreements.

In 2017-2018, A Strategic Futures Discussion Paper was considered by the Board to address and be cognisant of any issues that may potentially affect FEBC and its operations in the future.

The Board is diligent in ensuring that effective mission outcomes are being achieved in all areas of mission support and that effective encouragement and communication takes place with the field.

In March, two new Board members were added. Larry Podmore from Western Australia who previously had a long association with FEBC. David McDonald from Sydney who brings a depth of knowledge in financial matters. I would also like to acknowledge the dedication and diligence of our current Board. Our meetings are underpinned by prayer and an abiding passion to communicate the Good News among the nations by media.

I would also like to acknowledge the enormous contribution to FEBC by all our ministry team and in particular, the National Director, Kevin Keegan. My attendance at their weekly staff and prayer meeting always reminds me of their enthusiasm, energy and joyful dedication to the mission of FEBC.

National Director's Message

"... my only aim is to finish the race and complete the task the Lord Jesus has given me-- the task of telling others the Good News about the wonderful grace of God."

- Acts 20:24

That's the task and mission of FEBC, to let them hear, to make known the Good News among all the nations, to inspire people to follow Jesus. It is also the task and commission of us all as followers of Christ. 2018 has been a great year of ministry and, as this report reflects, there is much to be thankful for.

Being a faith mission we take an enormous step by making three-year commitments to 16 ministry fields; along with additional support above that for emergencies, shortwave broadcast support to minorities, projects and thousands of radios.

This is only possible through God's provision, the trust and faith of our Board, and the commitment of faithful supporters. However, this commitment, in a changing financial and political world is not insignificant. Yet just as our fields live by faith, FEBC Australia walks the same path. As a result we see and celebrate God's faithfulness.

Our total income this year of $2.224m (37% more than last year) reflects God's great blessings through His people. While the major growth over the previous year was due to bequests, it is still important to note our donations also increased. This allowed us to meet all our commitments along with additional funding which enabled our Board to wisely action investment provisions for the future.

FEBC supporters have been faithful in their prayers and giving resulting in significant progress in many fields of operation. To the many faithful donors who give sacrificially so as to bless others with the message of hope, thank you, you are a huge encouragement to us all. We want to keep providing you with the information you need to keep praying, to keep giving and to keep telling others about the needs and the astounding opportunities we see.

There is still much to do as our supporter base is small and aging. However we have been encouraged by seeing an increase in supporters born after 1964. Consequently, we continue to build on our acquisition and supporter engagement strategies and have been encouraged by growth in brand awareness, utilising Australian Christian radio stations as well as publications like Eternity news.

Deputations continue to play an important role. I want to thank all those churches who have welcomed representatives from FEBC in the past year. We have travelled across various parts of Australia to share the great stories of lives changed through FEBC. These are great opportunities to meet with supporters, receive feedback, answer questions and be encouraged together.

Our FEBC International fields and teams continue to witness and testify to God's powerful work transforming lives and communities. Many of them face great personal cost, persecution, and danger. Increased compliance requirements by our Australian authorities has meant increased field visits and monitoring, however our fields have responded well to the additional needs for reporting. A focus on good governance, mission focus, and achievable outcomes has led to greater accountability, opportunities and growth.

The FEBC Australia office has continued its strong focus on communicating with our supporters, reporting on needs, achievements and challenges in the work for which we raise support.

"Through your programs I realised I was whole, I realised God loves me as I am, and today I am filled with joy. Physically, I am handicapped. Yet deep in my heart, I am complete because of Christ."

- FEBC Chinese listener who now serves doing programs and production.

We have shared many prayer needs and have sought to encourage our supporters with the joy that comes from answered prayer. We have sought out fundraising opportunities and continue to develop detailed project submissions. All this is possible through our faithful team and volunteers who make us a stronger, more effective mission. Our team is small and we know as the work increases so must our team, God willing.

Please be encouraged by the stories and information contained in the Annual Report – these things are made possible by your prayers and giving. Please stand with us, and ambassador for us, as we seek to communicate in new ways to engage others in this great mission of FEBC.

Our Pillars

FEBC: Reaching the unreached

Radio and media is one of the most effective ways to take the Good News to people in hardest-to-reach places, bringing the name of Jesus and the love of God to millions for the first time. The unreached include:

- + People groups that occupy inaccessible mountain regions such as China, Vietnam, Laos, Myanmar & Thailand – that's why short-wave radio is still so important.
- + Those who live in poverty and remain untouched by globalisation and technology - FEBC broadcasts education and training to empower individuals to set up business for economic choice
- + The illiterate, the blind, the deaf, or those devastated by disaster. FEBC develops innovative ways to reach them.

Indonesia is a huge archipelago with 35 provinces and 508 Districts. Currently FEBC Indonesia operates seven radio stations - and cannot cover all of the country. There still remain many to reach with the Good News of Christ Jesus.

In an innovative partnership approach, FEBC Indonesia has identified that there are many radio stations in district areas needing quality radio content - but lack the training, teams and financial resources to deliver it. With its new Project MORE, FEBC Indonesia is encouraging these radio stations to partner with the FEBC Heartline Radio Network in order to access Heartline's quality content and establish financial efficiency and effectiveness.

"Our prayer is that we will be able to expand and share the Gospel nationwide so we can reach more listeners, whilst still achieving cost and time savings as compared to developing our own new radio stations," said Jusak Widjaja, FEBC Indonesia director.

The target is to have a partnership with at least one local radio station per region, with already many stations signing up.

FEBC: Supporting Persecuted Christians

In some of the most religious intolerant nations in the world, where the persecution of Christians is often severe, it is FEBC radio and internet that reaches and supports faithful believers. These are the places where followers of Christ must keep their beliefs hidden and where living the gospel means facing beatings, imprisonment, discrimination and abuse.

FEBC works (either directly or supporting partners) in 22 of the top 50 countries noted in The Open Doors World Watch List.

In persecuted countries, with no churches or pastors, FEBC broadcasts are often the only source of spiritual nourishment. With no theological seminaries or training centres, broadcasts are training up leaders. In places where it is risky to openly declare following Jesus, radio is one of the few safe ways to hear God's word. Radios distributed by FEBC require no batteries, are wind-up or solar. Every effort is made so FEBC's broadcasts are accessible to those most in need of hope and encouragement.

As persecution of Christians and the church continues to rise in China, Pakistan and the Middle East, FEBC has moved intentionally to support pastors and their flocks. FEBC preaches on radio and via internet. FEBC is focusing on internet streaming and mobile apps to share the Good News. Praise God for the results: thousands of new followers are listening on FEBC's Telegram, WeChat and other similar channels with more than 2 million downloading our streaming apps.

FEBC: Partnering with Churches

FEBC partners with churches and religious leaders to help deliver successful projects in local communities; this helps build trust and legitimacy. FEBC benefits from the established networks of the clergy. The church benefits as FEBC shares the good news and life-giving media specific to local needs; from bridging religious or political divides to delivering essential health messaging and programs promoting gender equality.

FEBC also helps establish first generation churches - typically in places where Christianity has traditionally not had a presence until FEBC began broadcasting. Many commit whole-heartedly to follow Christ, and many FEBC listener groups go on to plant churches, relying on FEBC programming for discipleship and education.

Waluza* was once a Muslim and now he is leading 120 listener clubs in the area of Sub TA Katema in the west of the Mangochi district. He says: "I am very grateful for what FEBC is doing. Among other things, FEBC Malawi has brought many Yao Muslims men/women to Christ and today in my area there many who are gathering around the radio listening to what our announcers has for us. More importantly, the teachings you have created especially designed for our groups is a tremendous example.

"The Discipleship Making Movement has greatly impacted us here in this remote area and it is gaining ground. There is a possibility of establishing a church, which the majority of listeners are keen to establish, and there is also a need to have someone closer by to help us all with Bible study. Please know that your donation of radios and audio bibles to us is not in vain, it is bearing much fruit among the Yao people of Malawi."

Health, Relief and Justice

Jesus cares for the whole person – body, mind and soul – so FEBC’s projects and partners cover a wide range of issues that aim to bring people to “life in all its fullness”. Many of our projects have a focus on health and justice. When sickness and many deaths are caused by preventable illnesses such as cholera, diarrhoea or malaria, working to provide health messages can save lives. When people are not aware of their rights, or a poor justice system is in place, FEBC provides education and empowerment. When people are caught by human slavery of every kind, FEBC provides ways and messaging to alert the community in order to prevent, rescue and restore. When social ills such as drugs and alcohol lead to domestic violence and other kinds of abuses, FEBC speaks out providing resources and words of counsel and hope.

We live today in a beauty-conscious world and skin farms exist today in Asia to feed this longing of beauty in the West. Young boys and girls are taken, tricked, or sold and their skin grafted off in order to make collagen for anti-aging creams and other beauty products. Such actions are horrifying and they break the heart of God. As part of our radio programming, FEBC is letting people hear of their rights and the legal and government aid available. We are helping communities become aware of the signs of these terrible practices, and how to work to prevent them.

“When I heard your (FEBC) programs I had the strength to reach out and get help... thank you for saving my life.”

- Listener who fled from captivity and connected with an on-ground support partner.

Human slavery includes:

- + Child marriage
- + Child labour
- + Criminal exploitation
- + Domestic servitude
- + Forced labour
- + Organ harvesting
- + Skin farming
- + Sexual exploitation

FEBC is able to play a huge part in preventing such atrocities because of radio’s reach.

Distance and illiteracy are not barriers. We can make known the signs to watch out for, so communities can be alerted to the danger of people being relocated against their will.

Health & Justice Outcomes

- + Decrease in selective abortion
- + Increase in girl children attending school and colleges
- + Communities better informed about their rights and opportunities
- + Awareness for community reporting to authorities - child marriage decreased
- + Justice increasing against abuse, rape, trafficking (human slavery)
- + Raised awareness of the importance of a father's role in family
- + Increased family and parenting education
- + Greater support for senior citizens
- + Support groups for those suffering domestic violence
- + Counselling and support for addictions (alcohol/drugs)

Displaced Peoples Outcomes

UNHCR figures - An unprecedented 68.5 million people around the world have been forced from home. Among them are nearly 25.4 million refugees, over half of whom are under the age of 18.

FEBC broadcasts are reaching millions of refugees in many of the top refugee hosting countries.

Displaced People

There are now more displaced people in the world than ever before. The number of people now fleeing violence and persecution is approaching 66 million. That's nearly three times Australia's population. The United Nations says we are facing the largest humanitarian crisis since 1945. While the Word of God is prolific about our responsibility for those in need, it can also be overwhelming.

FEBC's Radio PARS in Indonesia is a wonderful example of how FEBC is playing a vital role in offering hope and support to those in exile, homeless and displaced. It demonstrates how radio is capable of reaching out across the world's growing refugee crisis.

Refugees are desperately in need of good news, hope and help. Through Radio PARS we are blessed to reach out across towns and cities in Indonesia, as well as refugees in Germany, Turkey, Iran, Afghanistan, Thailand, Malaysia and Northern Australia who tune into the program via digital streaming. This same approach is being used in other places of the world through our FEBC broadcasts. Via radio and internet, refugees hear a voice that speaks their own language, in a way that recognises and speaks to their need.

HOME BASED facts - with global impact

Much more than 'just' a $30 radio...

For Christmas 2017, FEBC ran a new sort of Christmas campaign. Departing from our past catalogue approach that encouraged people to give to a range of FEBC projects, we opted to focus on the humble radio. God provided a wonderful response. Sending out a creative gift-wrapped radio brochure at the start of November captured people's hearts and imaginations. The 2017 Christmas campaign raised enough funds to place more than 3000 radios in our mission fields. Knowing one radio can be shared by up to 25 people, impacting the lives of up to 75,000 people.

To put it in perspective, that's more people than would fill Perth's Subiaco Oval or Brisbane's The Gabba; and almost Sydney's Stadium Australia .

....Because Radio does not deliver silence

The huge amount of people holding an FEBC radio in their hands as a result of the 2017 Christmas fundraising campaign cannot compare to the huge amount of responses FEBC receives from listeners each year. Our listeners respond not because they hold a radio in their hands but because of what they hear.

We know FEBC offers the power of a friendly radio voice that reaches out into hopeless situations and offers words of love and encouragement. Offering the joy of Christ next to practical help. Just like those small loaves and fish brought to Jesus in John 6, God is using radio to multiply His nourishment to many. In 2017, worldwide, FEBC received 2.6 million responses...

That is why FEBC Australia continues to fundraise for specific radio programming that has been identified as needed in the communities where we have a presence. A Bible in your hands carries weight but it's the words inside that changes lives. Radios are devices that carry powerfully the words of hope and life - and when supported by follow-up teams on the ground sharing testimonies that change lives.

Deputations

Throughout 2018, National Director Rev. Kevin Keegan has been out around Australia, visiting eight Sydney and outer-metro churches, as well as churches in south-west WA, Brisbane, Darwin, Canberra and the Riverina.

In March while touring WA, Kevin gave deputations to mission groups and services at eight churches (including five churches new to FEBC), and visited home groups and individuals. In nine days he covered more than 1,000 km and we are thankful to God for the many opportunities.

Kevin also hosted FEBC Russia's Alexey Vlasikhin on deputations to Sydney, Brisbane and Canberra in May last year, sharing news from the field with new supporters encouraging prayer for those in persecuted regions of Russia and impacted by the war in Ukraine.
