Including FEBC Australia in your will

A thoughtful gift

What greater testament to a life transformed by God's grace, than to demonstrate your eternal priorities by including FEBC in your Will?

After providing for your family and meeting your obligations, giving from your estate is a thoughtful life-changing gift.

Much of God's work has been made possible by bequest giving. FEBC reaches the world's hardest-to-reach in many parts of the world, sharing the resources of the people of the Kingdom to see God's Kingdom extended.

Speak with your solicitor about making or updating a Will to include these words:

“ I give and bequeath, free of all duties, to FEBC Australia, ABN 68 000 509 517, (include your bequest option here), for the general purposes thereof (OR a specific purpose or item to be declared), and I declare that the receipt of a proper officer of FEBC Australia shall be a full and sufficient discharge to my Trustee. ”

The Importance Of Preparing A Will

Did you know over 50% of Australian have no valid Will? Yet a valid Will records your wishes, assisting your family during a most difficult time. A Will gives comfort by assuring your loved ones that your estate is being managed the way you wish, debts are covered and those who are left behind are provided for.

Without a Will, an estate is distributed based on an official formula. If surviving relatives are more distant than cousins, the entire estate is passed directly to the government.

At FEBC, we are blessed with supporters who are intentional in their lives regarding the use of money to support the work of God's kingdom. Choosing to leave a bequest to FEBC in your Will ensures this can continue to happen.

Your support puts Christ's message of hope into the hands, ears and hearts of people around the world.

Bequests make a lasting difference

"Most days, I drive from Kampong Cham to Phnom Penh and back. I love to listen to your program so much while I drive because I don't have a radio at home."

- A taxi driver in Cambodia

"I heard your station by chance, and was delighted by your wonderful programs. I feel a great need to know the Bible in a mature, scientific way, to protect myself from the demoralisation in society."

- A listener in Iraq

"I sent an SMS to the station and when the program finished my phone rang. One of the ministry team called me to talk about Jesus. I was invited to his church. I decided to become a Christian. Now I often read the Bible book and attend church. I really want to share the Gospel news with the people living around me. I do not know the Bible story inside out but I have a passion to talk about Jesus. Thank you for so much. I am very thankful."

- A listener in Mongolia

"I received Christ because I listened to FEBC. I know how powerful radio can be: it's a personal, heart-to-heart conversation."

- Mikhail, who is now an FEBC presenter in Michurinsk, Russia

"I think the human voice that comes through radio is very special. You are focused on the voice, so the message comes to you stronger than with a picture. FEBC is powerful. I will keep listening to your program carefully. Thank you!!"

- A new believer in Japan

The value of an ongoing gift to God's work through FEBC can not be underestimated. Reaching people through radio, God builds churches and communities that will last into eternity. You can be part of a long-term ministry of salvation, fellowship and transformation. Consider FEBC when you create or update your Will.
